"War Over"—Wall Street
Business Violent Ward
Woman's Home Influence

Of all men put up for nomination and cheered by Democrats in San Francisco the most interesting, from a purely American point of view, is Senator Owen. When it comes to ancient American lineage the descendants of "Mayflower" passengers are more numerous than Owen.
For he has Indian blood in his veins, plenty of it. He was living here in the bodies of his ancestors long before Cromwell killed Charles and laid the foundations of the British empire; before William killed Harold and took England; before Caesar captured Vergingetrix and took France.
Before there was any such thing as English, French, Roman or Greek civilization Senator Owen's ancestors were eating American bison, fighting American grizzly bears and roaming this great continent. It would be a remarkable incident in history if a descendant of the ancient days were chosen head of the white conquerors.

The Stock Exchange thinks the war is over, although the administration says it isn't. Trading in German municipal government bonds was resumed in Wall Street yesterday. This has importance, because it indicates that Wall Street, well informed where money is concerned, believes first mortgages on German cities once more represent actual value.

Germany asks of the Allies permission to keep an army of 200,000. Two hundred or one hundred thousand makes no difference to Germany except for interior police. The Germans have millions of men that can be made soldiers overnight if inside troubles demand it.

As for outside troubles, Germany probably will not be much disturbed. Whatever was worth taking has been taken.

With Germany disarmed, the next door neighbor of Belgium, Holland, France and England, is Bolshevik Russia.
Formerly the military power of Germany was a strong wall standing between western civilized Europe and Russia and beyond Russia, the peace treaty has broken down the stone wall.

There is nothing between Bolshevikism and western Europe. While the nations that make a fringe along Europe's western coast will begin thinking about that.

The Federal Reserve Bank gives out elaborate reports on business, saying machine tools are going into the violent war of an insane captain and talking to the inmates. One tells you, "I am the Emperor Napoleon and shall be elected king of the universe tomorrow." Another tells you, "I have a dynamite bomb inside of me and shall soon blow up. Do not come near me."
If this nation would attend to its own business and not mess with foreign legends and other nonsense, and especially, if it would strengthen its own strength, it would have little worry.

Marvellously good crops, unlimited wealth which can be increased indefinitely by a combination of science, machinery and common sense, should make pessimism impossible.
The national debt that agitates some, amounts to nothing. Less than half of one year's income in this country. If Rockefeller lost half of one year's income he wouldn't worry himself to death about it. Well knowing that he would have enough left. So with this country. It may have a PRUDENT public, but not any other kind.

Women opposing suffrage have always said: "Women in the home have all the influence there is." So they have, as regards home matters. But politically, the influence in the home, being a parental influence, is harmful. It is always has been.

The Manchester Guardian, publishing letters that the British Empire went to her husband before they were both murdered, reveals a woman trying to rule her husband and an empire under orders of a half-witted and thoroughly worthless monk, Rasputin.

Another Empire, wife of Napoleon III, by her influence plunged France into the fatal 1870 war with Germany, saying: "This war will be my war." It is better for women and nations to have women work with their votes rather than through the methods of these two worthless imperial ladies.

The products of this country belong primarily to THIS COUNTRY. There is a shortage of coal because it is being sold abroad profitably and profitably. There should be an embargo on coal shipments to any country outside of the United States while any American city or industry lacks coal.

What applies to coal applies to a hundred other products.
Let the producers first supply the country in which they live and from which they get their living, then supply the rest of the world.

ELWELL CHARMED WOMAN

Rhode Island Divorces Admits That She Was Absolutely Fascinated

New York, July 2.—Mrs. Josephine Lewis Peet Wilmerding, a member of an old family whose members have long had entrance to the most exclusive circles of New York and Narragansett Pier, today identified herself as one of the mysterious women mentioned by Anna Kane, former housekeeper for Joseph Byrne Elwell, in the interview cabled by a staff correspondent of Universal Service, who found her in Ireland.

Mrs. Wilmerding was located by the authorities as a direct consequence of the cable dispatch. She is divorced from Culbert Mortimer Wilmerding.

While admitting that she was friendly with Elwell, she denied that she was the cause of the jealousy of "Miss Wilson," the "girl of the pink pajamas" who has been recommended for examination by District Attorney Kane because of the story of Anna Kane that she heard her make a threat to shoot the card expert if he joined her again.

In this connection, Mrs. Wilmerding said: "I knew 'Miss Wilson.' I know her real name. But I have never seen Anna Kane in my life. I never knew her real name. In Elwell's home there was absolutely no connection with her."

QUINCY TENANTS GET RESPITE

Will Be Allowed to Occupy Homes Until September 1; Protest to Be Renewed

The 350 families occupying apartment houses at Quincy Point will be allowed by the government to remain in the homes until September 1, in spite of a file public action of the house to be held tomorrow.

At the expiration of that time they will be asked to start a fight under the new Massachusetts laws for an extension of occupancy an additional six months. There was every indication today that this step would be taken.

These were the high notes of the report made by the committee of Quincy citizens who returned from Washington, where they conferred with the authorities in charge. The report of the committee will be made public at a mass meeting tonight at River View Park.

The citizens' committee, which returned from Washington today, was made up of Congressman Oliver, City Councilmen Dwyer and Bradford and Secretary E. E. Williams and Edward Moore of the River View Shipbuilding Company.

President Sherman of the United States Housing Corporation told the committee that the valuations placed on the houses offered for sale were reasonable and assured them that the houses would be sold to individuals and not to a syndicate, as was rumored.

The committee conferred with Assistant Secretary of Labor Watt and President Sherman of the United States Housing Corporation in their report.

Returned Prisoner Won't Be Punished for Escaping, Says Warden Shattuck

"Prison officials," said District Attorney Trafts today, "are naturally of a jealous disposition as to affairs of this nature. I have no apologies to make for my part in Barney's surrender. The lot of the prisoner is not a pleasant one and I do not want to see a man escape and go to the penitentiary."

Herman L. Barney, who returned to the State prison at Charlestown on Wednesday night after being absent five weeks, will be shown no special consideration because of his voluntary surrender, Warden Elmer F. Shattuck said today. Neither will he be punished.

While nobody would stand as an authority for the statement, or suggest a method of procedure, State and police officials were quoted today that the escape of Barney, his story of five weeks' employment on a farm near Brattleboro, Vt., his surrender by telephone to District Attorney Trafts of Middlesex County, instead of to any of his police officers, and his delivery to the prison at night, should be the immediate subject of a searching investigation by the Governor and the Executive Council.

BRYAN STARTS BIG CONVENTION FIGHT

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
San Francisco, July 2.—The Democratic platform of 1920 was completed this morning by the committee on resolutions and submitted to the convention.

Submission of the platform was the signal for a floor fight against its adoption led by William Jennings Bryan, whose ideas were rejected by the committee. Bryan was prepared for battle on the League of Nations and liquor issues, and a fight on the Irish plank, which was in essence an expression of sympathy for the Irish Republicans, was also on the program.

The platform fight in the committee was one of the most bitter in years and ended with many of the members exhausted from the four days and nights of almost ceaseless wrangling over the various planks. Following in the rear of the important plank of the platform: The Democratic party in its national convention assembled, sends greetings to the President of the United States.

"MISS WILSON" SHARPLY ESTIMATED IN ELWELL MYSTERY

Charmed by Elwell But Found He Was Fickle

Authorities Also Investigate Story of Stain Turfman's Will

New York, July 2.—"Miss Wilson" the society girl who has figured so prominently in the investigation of the murder of Joseph Elwell, Jr., "what time" was questioned by the authorities today. She was given the most grilling examination of any she has had so far in the case. For the authorities want to know about the quarrel she is alleged to have had with another woman over Elwell's affections, and about the threat she is said to have made to "kill" the turfman and card expert if he ever slighted her again, both of which points were furnished to the authorities by Universal Service in an exclusive interview with Anne Kane, Elwell's former housekeeper. Anne was interviewed by Dennis O'Connell, a Universal Service staff correspondent at the home in Ireland, where she discovered her after a long search.

"We will question 'Miss Wilson' thoroughly," Justice Edward E. Swanwick said before the grilling began. "I want to hear from her answers from her to the information given by Anne Kane. Members of the district attorney's staff who have been working on the case said it would have to be borne in mind that testimony already taken in the investigation showed that Kane-Kane was discharged by Elwell at the investigation of the Elwell case. This man, in some part, he responsible for the statements made by Elwell's housekeeper, it was said, but the authorities obtained the Irish girl's version of the Elwell case, and she would be investigated fully. The Irish girl, who is now in the Elwell case, was also a friend of Elwell and with whom "Miss Wilson" is said to have had a bitter quarrel, it was known by the district attorney. It was said today, however, that she had not made complete preparations to follow up the information connected with her with the life of the murdered man, and might not take such a step until developments along the line of the investigation are now following.

SURE OF SECOND WILL.
The first work on the important point which the authorities had all agreed upon was to get the second will, most authentic corroborator of the statement made by Anne Kane, and which was a will by Elwell and witnessed by W. H. F. Kane, his former secretary, raising questions which was not the document discovered following Elwell's death.

It was said today that the authorities have absolute knowledge that such a second will had been made, at the time the first was made. This was made out in 1916, a year later than the will made public, bequeathed the greater part of Elwell's estate to his son, Joseph Elwell, Jr., and his daughter, Elwell. However, two other beneficiaries, the late Elwell's secretary, and "Another person," were named in the will. Elwell, the lawyer who assisted Elwell in drawing the document, the strongest evidence was that the will was made by Elwell and witnessed by W. H. F. Kane, his former secretary, raising questions which was not the document discovered following Elwell's death.

PROTECT "MISS WILSON."
Where is this will? The district attorney's staff wanted to know to reveal the identity of "Miss Wilson" today. He said, however, that at her examination a prominent New York attorney will be present, and a stenographer will take down her testimony. Heretofore she has been questioned behind closed doors and no record of her statements has been kept.

James Sharvin, prohibition enforcement commissioner in New York, said today that three prominent New York young men of the sporting fraternity, who were close friends of Elwell, have been found definitely involved in bootlegging transactions.

Mrs. Josephine Lewis Post Wilmerding, beautiful divorcee of New York and New Jersey, who admits that she was the first met Elwell, the murdered turfman and gambler, she was fascinated. But he was "old enough" to be her father, she says, and she soon discovered that he was "incapable of permanent love." He was to her, she declares, merely a charming social butterfly.

Mrs. Wilmerding was socially intimate with Elwell. For further information, she says that she was the cause of "Miss Wilson's" alleged jealousy declaration that she would "kill" Elwell if he "jilted her again."

So to-day after more than 50 years of persistent publicity of Allen's Foot-Ease, the Antiseptic Powder for the Feet, not many well-informed people care to confess, "You know I never have to use a powder for the Feet."

More than one million have bought thousands of pounds of powder for the Feet were used by our Army and Navy during the war.

The reason is that, increasing and confining the feet in leather or canvas shoes is bound to create friction, and the friction from the shoe and the foot causes smothering, callousness, corns and bunions. You know that friction does not remove it from your feet, but by shaking into your shoes today, Allen's Foot-Ease, the cleanest, wholesome, healing, Antiseptic powder! Get the habit of millions now. Have it. It is the only one yet, improved. —Advertisement.

LABOR AND INDUSTRY

The Democratic party is now, at the time of its greatest triumph in the history of the United States, the party of the laborer. It is the party of the worker, the party of the man who has no other power but his own. It is the party of the man who has no other power but his own. It is the party of the man who has no other power but his own.

These who labor have rights, and the national security and safety depend upon a just recognition of those rights and the conservation of the strength of the workers and their families in the interest of our country and our civilization.

At the same time the nation depends upon the productive labor. A cessation of production means loss, and if long continued disaster. The whole people, therefore, have a right to insist that justice shall be done to those who work and, in turn, that those whose labor creates the necessities upon which the life of the nation depends, must recognize the reciprocal obligation between the worker and the State.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

We endorse the proposed nineteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States granting equal suffrage to women. We congratulate the Legislatures of thirty-five States which have already ratified said amendment, and we urge the Democratic Governors and Legislatures of Tennessee, North Carolina and Florida, and such States as have not yet ratified the Federal suffrage amendment, to unite in an effort to complete the process of ratification of the thirty-sixth State in the Union.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY.

We urge co-operation with the States for the protection of child life, through infancy and maturity care in the prohibition of child labor, and by adequate appropriations for the children's bureau and the women's bureau in the Department of Labor. Co-operative Federal assistance to the States is immediately required for the removal of illiteracy, for the increase of teachers' salaries and instruction in citizenship for both native and foreign-born, increased appropriations for vocational training in home economics, re-establishment of joint Federal and State employment service with women's departments under the direction of technically qualified women.

DISABLED SOLDIERS

The Federal Government should treat with the utmost consideration every disabled soldier, sailor and marine of the World War, whose disability is due to wounds received in line of action or to health impairment in service. And for the dependents of the brave men who died in line of duty the government should have the tenderest concern and richest bounty should be their reward. The patriotism exhibited, the heroic conduct displayed by American soldiers and marines at home and abroad, constitutes a sacred heritage of posterity the which must never be recompensed from the treasury and the glory of which must not be diminished by any such expedients.

is readily adjusted and the hospital facilities for those whose health is impaired are abundantly afforded. The Federal board for vocational education should be made a part of the war risk insurance bureau, in order that the task may be treated as a whole and this machinery of protection and assistance must receive every aid of law and appropriation necessary to fill and this administrative machinery.

THE RAILROADS

The railroads were subjected to Federal control as a war measure without other idea than the swift transport of troops, munitions and supplies. When human life and national honors were at stake profits could not be considered and were not. Federal operation, however, was marked by an intelligence and efficiency that minimized loss and resulted in many and marked reforms. The equipment turned over was not only grossly inadequate but shamefully outworn. Limitation practices overcame these initial handicaps and provided additional equipment and improvements.

Somehow enabled operation without the loss of private enterprise would have been necessary, and labor was treated with an equal justice that secured the anti-trust cooperation that victory demanded. The financial success of Federal control was achieved fully and speedily and at far less cost to the taxpayer than would have been the case under private operation.

Investments in railroad properties were not only saved by government operation, but government management returned these properties vastly improved in every physical and executive detail. A great task was greatly discharged.

The President's recommendation to return to private ownership gave the Republican major a full year in which to enact the necessary legislation. The House took six months to formulate its idea, and another six months were consumed by the Republican Senate to qualify its debate. As a consequence the Keck-Cummings bill went to the President in the closing hours of Congress and he was forced to a choice between the chance of a veto and acquiescence in the measure submitted, however grave may have been his objection to it.

G. O. P. "SLUSH FUND" CAMPAIGN DENOUNCED

IMPROVED HIGHWAYS

Improved roads are of vital importance not only to commerce and industry, but also to agriculture and rural life. The Federal road act of 1916, enacted by Democratic Congress, represented the first systematic effort of the government to improve the building of an adequate system of roads in this country.

The act, as amended, has resulted in placing the movement for improved highways on a progressive and substantial basis in every State in the Union and in bringing under actual construction more than 15,000 miles of roads suited to the traffic needs of the communities in which they are located.

We favor a continuance of the present Federal aid under existing Federal and State agencies, amended so as to include as one of the elements in determining the ratio in which the several States shall be entitled to share in the fund the area of any public lands therein.

Inasmuch as the postal system has been extended by the Democratic party to the door of practically every producer and every consumer in the country (rural free delivery alone having been provided for 4,000,000 additional patrons within the past eight years without added cost), we declare that this instrumentality can and will be used to the maximum of its capacity to improve the efficiency of distribution and reduce the cost of living to consumers while increasing the profitable returns of producers.

We strongly favor the increased use of the motor vehicle for the general betterment of the nation and urge the repeal of the restrictive laws which the Republican Congress on the use of motor devices in mail transportation in rural territory.

MERCHANT MARINE

We desire to congratulate the American people upon the re-birth of the merchant marine, which now maintains its former place in the world. It was under a Democratic administration that this was accomplished after several years of neglect and neglect, 15,000,000 having been constructed since 1914.

We pledge the policy of our party to the continued growth of our merchant marine under proper legislation so that American shipping may be carried to all parts of the world and built in American yards.

PORT FACILITIES

The urgent demands of the war for adequate transportation of war supplies for domestic needs and the fact that our port facilities and their adjustment were such to seriously affect the whole country in times of peace as well as in times of war.

We pledge our party to stand for the improvement of our ports and for the ports of the country, to see that there are adequate fair facilities and rates for the utilization of the products of the industry offered for shipment.

INLAND WATERWAYS

We call attention to the failure of the Republican national convention to devote in any way the rapid development of large transportation on inland waterways, which development is the result of the constructive policies of the Democratic administration.

We pledge ourselves to the further development of adequate transportation facilities on our rivers and to the further improvement of our inland waterways, and we recognize the importance of connecting the "Great Lakes" with the sea by way of the Mississippi River and its tributaries, as well as by the St. Lawrence River.

We favor an enterprising foreign policy with all view to the connection with the full utilization of all Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific ports and an equitable distribution of shipping facilities between the various ports.

FLOOD CONTROL

We commend the Democratic Congress for the redemption of the flood control of our last platform by the passage of the flood control act of March 1, 1917, and point to the successful control of the floods of the Mississippi River and the Sacramento River in California, under the policy of that law, for its complete justification.

We favor the extension of this policy to other flood control problems wherever the Federal interest involved justifies the expenditure required.

RECLAMATION OF ARID LAND

By wise legislation and progressive administration we have transformed the government reclamation projects, representing an investment of $100,000,000 from a condition of impending failure and losses of confidence to a condition of great enterprise, whereby former wholly unproductive lands now support an annual crop production of $100,000,000 from a million acres of land reclaimed from government ownership.

We favor the appropriation for the continuation and extension of this great work of home building and general improvement along the same general lines, to the end that all practical projects shall be built and waters now running to waste shall be made to provide homes and food, fuel, power, resources and employment for the people of the United States.

THE TRADE COMMISSION

The Democratic party has been doing the creation and work of the Federal Trade Commission in establishing a fair field for competitive business, free from restraints of trade and monopoly, and in simplifying the laws of the government, and its activities are so great that it is difficult to prevent the unfair use of patents in restraint of trade.

LIVESTOCK MARKETS

For the purpose of insuring just treatment in the great interstate livestock market, and thus insuring confidence in growers through which production to consumers be ultimately increased, we favor the enactment of legislation for the supervision of such markets by the national government.

MEXICO

The United States is neighbor and friend of the nations of the Americas. In a very special sense, our international relations in this hemisphere should be characterized by good will and free from any possible suspicion as to our national purpose.

Remembering, however, that Mexico is an independent nation and that permanent stability in her government and her institutions could come only from the consent of her own people to a government of their own choice, we have been unwilling to profit by the misfortune of the people of Mexico or to interfere with their right to determine their own future.

As a consequence, order is gradually appearing in Mexico; at no time in many years have American lives and interests been so safe as they now are; peace reigns along the border and industry is resuming.

Where the new government of Mexico shall have given ample proof of the ability permanently to maintain law and order, signified its willingness to meet its international obligations and written upon its constitution.

PETROLEUM

The Democratic party recognizes the importance of the petroleum supply of our country and the need for its development and conservation. We favor the acquisition of oil lands and oil rights both at home and abroad and the fostering and encouraging of the petroleum industry.

We urge such action, legislative and executive, as may secure to the American citizen the same rights in the acquisition of mining rights in foreign countries as are enjoyed by the citizens or subjects of any other nation.

NEW NATIONS

The Democratic party expresses its deep sympathy with the people of China, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Poland, Rumania and others who have recently established representative government and who are striving to develop the institutions of free democracy.

IRELAND

The great principle of national self-determination has received constant reinforcement as one of the chief objects for which this country entered the war and victory established this principle as a basis of international conduct.

Within the limitations of international law and usage, the Democratic party of the United States favors the application of Ireland for self-government.

ARMENIA

We express our deep and earnest sympathy for the unfortunate people of Armenia, and we believe that our government, consistent with our constitution and principles, should render every possible aid and support to them in their efforts to establish and maintain a government of their own.

THE PHILIPPINES

We favor the granting of independence to the Philippines, and we believe that our government, consistent with our constitution and principles, should render every possible aid and support to them in their efforts to establish and maintain a government of their own.

HAWAII

We favor a liberal policy of home-ruled Hawaii, and we believe that our government, consistent with our constitution and principles, should render every possible aid and support to them in their efforts to establish and maintain a government of their own.

PORTO RICO

We favor granting to the people of Porto Rico the traditional territorial form of government, with a view to ultimate statehood according to all territories of the United States, and we believe that the officials appointed to administer the government of such territories should be qualified by previous bona fide residence therein.

THE POSTAL SERVICE

The efficiency of the postoffice department has been vindicated against the malicious and designing assault by the efficiency of its operation and record refutes its assailants. Their claims are silenced and their charges have collapsed.

We commend the work of the postoffice department on the reorganization of salaries of post office employees, recently completed, which reorganization was created by a Democratic administration. The Democratic party has always favored and will continue to favor the fair and just treatment of all government employees.

COOLIDGE BACK FROM TALK WITH HARRING

Governor Coolidge vice-presidential nominee of the Republican party, has returned to the city from Washington, where he conferred with Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee, and Chairman Hays of the Republican National Committee with regard to the general features of the Republican campaign to be inaugurated immediately following the official nomination of the candidates of their nomination.

REPUBLICAN CORRUPTION

The shocking disclosure of the last year from the State of Michigan for the criminal transaction of the late, long expiring on behalf of a candidate for the United States Senate, indicates the re-entrance under Republican auspices of money as an industrial factor in elections and the vigorous enforcement. We remind the people that a Republican Senator in Michigan, who is now under conviction and sentence for the official use of money in his election, that the Senate with a Republican majority was made possible.

PLATFORM ROW IS EXCITING

Glass and Bryan Clash and Walsh Makes Breach in Opponents' Ranks
By CHARLES O. POWER.

San Francisco, July 2.—(Bitterness and acrimony marked the closing hours of the platform committee's debate. Some of the passages between William J. Bryan and Senator Carter Glass, chairman, were decidedly heated. It was a very bad day for the commoner, and the steam roller struck him every time he tried to plead the cause in which he was interested.

The result is that he is disposed to shift the entire program of the administration. The foreign policy plank of the administration was denied in two vital spots. The plank of Senator Walsh of Massachusetts was the only concession the committee would listen to and the only one it would agree to.

WOULD-YE LISTEN.
Senator Walsh again spoke strongly against the retention of the plank in the platform draft. As he started to speak several of the Wilson members of the committee left their seats and walked to the rear of the committee room. Turning toward them, the senator declared that issue was too big to be ignored, to be given with contempt by men turning their backs upon its sponsors.

He declared that the plank was not as strong as he would like to see it, but admitted he was sure no plank of a more radical tendency from the Wilson idea would be given the slightest attention.

Making a breach in the ranks of the administration defenders, he considered personal victory for the Massachusetts Senator. It was only when he demanded to know what temporary Chairman Cummings meant when he said the President was not against any clarifying plank and by what authority he made such a statement that the "teacher's pet" on the committee sat up and took notice.

The senator demanded to know how such a statement could be substantiated with a committee inattentive to suggestions.

When the plank calling for the recognition of the republic of Ireland came up for consideration the Massachusetts Senator was one of seventeen that voted for it.

OPPOSED BY DR. VALERA.

President Dr. Valera of the republic of Ireland said this morning that the cause of Ireland is supported with sympathy and the policy of self-determination has already been applied and settled favorably by an overwhelming vote of the Irish people.

The right against the acceptance of the plank relative to Ireland is shaming up along extended lines and it shows indications of a hot note.

John J. Fitzgerald of Providence is the chairman of the committee in

Prelate Knows Only 'God Save Ireland'

Chicago, July 2.—"God Save Ireland" is the only "national" anthem that is known by Archbishop Patrick J. Manning of Melbourne, Australia, he says.

He answered charges that he had failed to stand up when "The Star-Spangled Banner" was sung so board his ship, declaring that he would not demand himself by making either an apology or an explanation.

"I have been called a traitor to the British empire," he added, "I have never been called an Irish rebel and I would be one if I were to offer an insult to your flag and anthem."

charge or chief of the general staff and Martin Lomenay of Boston is taking a big hand in the strategy. Pinching tongues on the plank of attack were made at a meeting this morning when the final reports of the senate among the delegations were given. The Irish cause active in Ireland, Niland and Castello, of Boston and Sullivan of Salem were active in the organized effort to secure the passage of the desired plank which calls for straight out recognition of the republic of Ireland.

All of the members of the New England States except Maine voted in favor of a plank favoring Ireland and eight votes reported. Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge to the convention as its spokesman of the national committee. It is to settle the question of the western states member today Mrs. Stevens W. Fitzgerald of active campaign for the plank, but there is a large number of the delegates opposed to her.

283 1-2 VOTES IN ERIN'S FAVOR

Recognition of New Republic Urged by Democrats of 10 States

By JOHN T. LAMBERT.

San Francisco, July 2.—That the plank for recognition of the Irish republic has 283 1-2 votes in ten states was announced at the second caucus of Democratic delegates.

The States reported and their votes available for recognition of the Irish Republic were: Connecticut, fourteen; Georgia, twenty-eight; Massachusetts, thirty; New Jersey, twenty-eight; New York, eighty-five; Ohio, thirty; Pennsylvania, fifty-five; Rhode Island, ten; Virginia, ten; and the District of Columbia, two and one-half.

An announcement that A. Mitchell Palmer favors the cause of Irish independence and will do all he can among his friends in the convention, was officially made.

Marion M. Lomenay, wearing a delegate badge, threw himself into the fray. "Make Cot. McAdoo and all the others come out into the open," said Lomenay at the conference. "Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln were not afraid to take a stand."

READY FOR PLANK FIGHT.
Warned by Judge Michael H. Sullivan of Salem of the danger of the sag rule, the caucus elected a committee of forty-eight delegates, one from each State, who will jump on their friends in all parts of the convention to demand a fair hearing for the Irish cause.

Frank P. Walsh's plank was unanimously endorsed by the caucus. It provided:

"Mindful of the circumstances of the birth of our own nation, we reassert the principle that all governments deserve their just power from the consent of the governed. We will support the continuance of our long established and tested practice of recognizing recognition without intervention in all cases where the people of a nation, as in Ireland, have by the vote of the people set up a free and chosen government to which they yield willing obedience."

PLEDGES FIRM RECOGNITION.
"Therefore, we pledge our party in the policy of according to the elected government of the Republic of Ireland full, formal and official recognition by the government of the United States, thus vindicating the principle for which our soldiers offered up their lives."

John J. Fitzgerald of Rhode Island presided over the caucus. Thomas A. Niland was appointed the Massachusetts member of the general committee. Former Congressman McAdoo, formerly for Maine and Fitzgerald for Rhode Island.

When You Can Buy Kuppenheimer and Other

Good Clothes Marked Down

From the low regular prices at which our stock was marked, it's time to buy whatever you may need to wear.

In more than one respect, this sale is without a parallel. The merchandise involved is the choicest and most desirable that The House of Kuppenheimer and other noted makers produced for this season. There is nothing here that is open to the slightest question as to style, fabric value or tailoring worth.

Then again, the reductions are from prices that were the lowest named on such merchandise by any store—anywhere. A mark down of a hold-up offers mighty little advantage, but when the lowest prices on record are reduced, it means a genuine saving.

So here you find two most vital factors of any sale event—certainty of quality and certainty of a substantial saving—to say nothing of widest varieties, expert service and satisfaction insurance. Everything but Blues, Blacks and Outing Suits marked down as follows:

FLY IN SURE HE CAN OUTPUNCH KLOBY

WELTERWEIGHTS READY FOR LAWRENCE TITLE BOUT

By JACK CONWAY
Paddy Flynn says he will outpunch Young Kloby when he meets the Y. T. champion in a twelve-round title bout at Lawrence tomorrow afternoon. After watching the Everett welterweight workout at Frankie Callahan's camp at North Reading, we agreed with Flynn when he asserted that Kloby will receive the hardest battle he has had since he got out of the Argentine.

It will be a strange thing to see Kloby in a ring with a man who is as heavy as he is. The rivals have agreed to scale at 142 pounds each. Both should be strong at this weight.

In most of his bouts Kloby had had to fight inside his opponent. This advantage has enabled him to wear his opponents down in the clinches and pave the way for a hard smash.

Little Kloby has been meeting the welterweights and middleweights Frankie Schell, Walter Rutter, Chick West, Joe Connolly, Battling Al Nelson and a lot more brawlers before he found that Flynn is not to be treated lightly once he gets going.

It will be interesting to note how a swifter, the Kloby force against Flynn's short, straight punches. Ring history shows that the fighters with the short wallop usually win. Flynn believes enough in precedent and himself to feel sure he will smash his way to a victory tomorrow afternoon.

There is more interest in tomorrow's bout than any of the other of late Kloby has been a party to. The fans realize that the Lawrence welterweight is finally meeting an opponent who is a match for him. They want to see at least one of the two men in a career battle to Kloby.

Jack Renault will have Carlo Armstrong as an opponent in a twelve-

Sacco and Toland in Air Bout
Marion will stage another ring show tomorrow afternoon, Jack Toland, Philadelphia lightweight, is carded to meet Jimmy (Young) Sacco of Kaff Boston in the feature bout of twelve rounds. The boys are evenly matched and should furnish a spirited fight.

There will not be a show at the Commercial A. C. tonight. When several of the boxes who were booked to perform reported they had suffered injuries in the training camp, Bob McKenzie called off the entire show rather than arrange an inferior program.

Three-Cornered 35-Mile Paced Race Tops Bill for Tomorrow Night at Oval

Another double feature bill will be staged at the new Revue cycle track tomorrow night with a three-cornered 35-mile motor paced race and a special sprint match.

The motor paced match will bring together George Wiley, Vincent Madonna and Frank Derry. The latter has been going big at the other N. C. A. tracks and promises to give the local pair a real race.

Wiley has been running up for some time and declares he is ripe to tackle the best of them.

In the special sprint, Manager Butler has brought over Piani, the Italian sprint star from New Jersey to race Willie Keller. Little Willie has been showing his heels to the boys at the back in the most of the events and outside of a few hard breathes has had things just about his own way.

Piani is sure to make the going fast as he has also been making all the class A riders at the Velodrome show their best to hold him even.

The regular card of amateurs and professionals will make up the rest of the program.

Did Jones Join Because Athletics Won?

"Why did he?" Jones signs a contract to play football with the Athletics if he wanted to break into the big league?" asked one fan who felt sorry for the Harvard star.

"Guess it must have been the result of a bet," answered his friend.

"How's that?" inquired the first.

"The day he signed, the Mark here won a game, and I guess he must have promised to join the team if it ever won again—and he lost his bet. Well, anyway, he'll get plenty of practice, for if there is anything the school needs it is in its athletic pitching."

VINCENT MARTIN BEATS BILLY FITZSIMMONS

Vincent Martin of Cambridge won in twelve rounds over Billy Fitzsimmons of Cambridge in the main bout at the C. C. of Quincy.

In the other bouts Tommy Marks of Cambridge defeated Frank Moore of Cambridge in ten rounds; Young Sully of North Boston in six rounds and Dan Flynn of Cambridge stopped Young Madison of Cambridge in three rounds.

RED SOX AND SENATORS LINE UP FOR FOURTH GAME OF SERIES

JOHN WILSON VS. KARP IN BOX

Johnson Wins Place in Hall of Fame With No-Hit, No-Run Game

Those bustling Senators, who are traveling about 100 per cent faster than when they were here last Spring, met the Red Sox in the fourth game of the present series on Fenway Park today. The shortage of pitchers compelled Manager Barrow to take a chance with one of his rookies, so Henry Karp was sent to the firing line. He was opposed by Bill Schneider.

The third inning, as fine a pitcher's battle as has been witnessed this season, was won by Washington, 1 to 0. The great entered the sixth inning of baseball by handing up the first no-hit game of his long career. Walter has been very successful in this distinction many times but never was able to accomplish it until in the present series.

For all intents and Red Sox runners reached first base. Then, in the seventh, Homer rolled over an easy slider to second baseman Harry of the Senators. The latter fumbled, the Boston captain was safe at first base and Johnson's chance for a perfect game was gone. Homer came near to spoiling the no-hit part of it in the ninth inning. With the count two and two, Harry hit a wicked liner over first base. But Joe Judge leaped high in the air, stuck out his glove hand and transformed the seemingly sure hit into the final out of the game.

Harper Pitches Almost as Well as Johnson

But if Johnson was good, Harry Harper, available Senator, was far behind. It is true Harper was nipped for seven strikes, but he kept the blow as well as scattered that his one run was made off a batter in nine innings. The score was accomplished by Harry Roth in the third inning. Harper issued one pass and hit two batters, and was faced by thirty-two of the Senators in all, growing more difficult each day. With a shortened pitching staff, neither outfield nor infielder hit the Boston field boys in looking advance at the coming Western invasion with more than average skill of double-batters. The score was held forth little hope. The Senators' pitchers are hard to get on as experienced outfielders and infielders. Major league players are virtually impossible to obtain at this time of the year, and the minor league clubs are apparently determined to retain whatever promising material they may have on hand. When asked for terms the managers down in the bullpen either shake their heads or make a price that is virtually prohibitive.

DRAVES LINE UP WITH GIANTS

Short Stay in New York and Then Back Home for the Fourth

New York, July 2.—The climbing Draves, leaders of the second division in John Heydler's very best little league, faced the Giants on the Polo grounds today. The Bostonians, who had taken a couple of days off to go back to the States, were more than anxious to get back into the big fray and had Dena Fillinger and Hush McQuitty warming up before the game. McQuitty apparently had retired to his old faith on big Fred Toney, as the latter was the only client hurler during them in practice. The Giants were doing very well until they collided with the Bostonians, who dumped them for three games in the past two days. Draves has Arthur Dettin and his other assets looking over the minor for some new infield material and it could not be any surprise in the fact if some new names appeared in the New York lineup when the team is on the second swing around the western circuit.

Hallings, on the other hand, is willing to stand pat on his team—except of course in the box. There he is perfectly satisfied with what he has got, but would not be at all averse to having a little more. So long as the Braves pitchers go on hurling the kind of baseball they have shown during the past fortnight, there is no reason why the Boston victories should not go on accumulating. But if they don't—

By TAD MEREDITH IS TO TRY COMEBACK

Former Penn Middle-Distance Man to Run in Olympic Trials at Stadium

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

If for no other reason than that Ted Meredith is to compete in the quarter-mile dash of the final Olympic trials at the Harvard Stadium, that event would prove one of the feature attractions of the approaching event.

Ted had the whole country race for him when he last competed at the Stadium track. He came there fresh from having set a new world record for the half-mile run and with a string of intercollegiate, national and Olympic championships, and records to his name such as no other athlete ever boasted. He came as Captain of the University of Pennsylvania track team to run his final race for his alma mater, and in the course of that last Stadium appearance he set a new world record in the half-mile run, and won the world's best in the 440 and 880 yard races.

Confidence in Every Move of Meredith

There was confidence in every movement of his well-muscled body on that last occasion, and the starting middle-distance man, who opposed him in the race, was confident that he would be swallowing Ted's dust even before the starter's gun sent them on their way.

In the approaching Olympic trials Ted again will have the whole country rooting for him. But on this occasion he will be competing as an amateur, and not as a member of the Olympic team. He will be a member of the Olympic team, but he will be an amateur.

Ted is endeavoring to stage a comeback in 1918. Ted reached the peak of his glorious career and then he came to the end, which found him in the service of his country, and for other reasons, Ted dropped from sight as an athlete. Ted is having good success in calling back the prowess that made him the most talked of track man in the world. He managed to win a place in the Metropolitan A. A. U. championships, but in the Eastern Olympic trials at Philadelphia he finished a very poor fifth in a preliminary heat.

Ted's last chance comes in the stadium games and those who love a gambler will not find cheering at this once unbeatable champion.

Wilson Winner on Points

Champion Disappoints Big Crowd at Newark by Showing Against Bartfield

Newark, N. J., July 2.—Johnny Wilson, the middleweight champion of the world, made a sorry showing last night against Bud Bartfield in the main bout of twelve rounds at the Sportsman's Club.

Bartfield, outwitted by Wilson not some eight points, forced the fighting all the way and although the champion was on points, doing the greater part of the work, he made a disappointing impression on the crowd.

Wilson entered the ring weighing 157 pounds, while Bartfield came in at 145. There was little to endorse over at any stage, although Bartfield, never beaten in both height and reach, kept hitting in, and this is the only feature that gave the bout take on the semblance of a fight.

A Romantic Film Drama With
MARION DAVIES

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

The father of little Stephanie Quest, disowned by his family, becoming a drug addict, pays no attention to the child. Her mother sinks into the father, and the girls is left to wander the streets without knowing the meaning of the word home. She is taken in by a poor workman, who already has a large family. Jim Cleland, son of John Cleland, millionaire art collector, goes home to New Orleans, from where he has just returned. He says, "I may have a hard time getting home, but the father sees the lad off for school in the fall." Then Cleland, Sr., reads of some cases of needy children and visits Stephanie Quest. He decides to adopt her.

FOR John Cleland's position in New York among men of wealth, of affairs, of influence and of culture made this sudden and unfortunate whim of his for Stephanie Quest a matter of awkward importance to Chiltern Griemer, who had not cared to figure in the case at all.

Griemer's large, dry hand continued to massage his jaw. Now and then the bony fingers wandered carelessly toward the white side-whiskers, but always returned to screen the thin lips with a gentle, incessant massage.

"Cleveland," he began in a solemn voice, "have you ever heard that this child is—ah—is a very distant connection of my family?—my—my—my immediate family. Have you ever heard any ill-natured gossip of this nature?"

Cleveland, too astonished to reply, merely gazed at him. And Griesmer wrongly concluded that he had heard of it, somewhere or other.

"M-m-myes—a connection—very distant—very distant—the second cousin—have you heard of this unfortunate affair from sources perhaps unfriendly to myself and family—m-m-myes, unfriendly—possibly it were judicious to explain the matter to you—in justice to myself."

"I never heard of it," said Cleveland, "and I never dreamed of such a connection."

"You mean something that happened many, many years ago?"

"That is what I refer to. Did you read it in the newspapers?"

"Yes," said Cleland. "I read that she ran away with a married man."

Much Embarrassed

"Doubtless," continued Grismer with a sigh. "You recollect the dreadful disgrace she brought upon my family? The cruel scandal exploited by a pitiless and malicious press?"

Cleland said nothing.

The Woman Who Refused to Fus

"I'm going right in and phone him now," said Mrs. Crosby determinedly.

Mrs. Morris answered the telephone herself, and in reply to Mrs. Crosby's distressed "Do tell me about the delicious dessert Mary said you had to their night," she replied: "Why, that was Pudding. Don't you use Pudding?"

"Wait till you try it," promised his friend. "And you know it has all sorts of uses. I make the most delicious cake and pie fillings with Pudding, and I have never tasted such smooth cream."

"Oh, yes—rose vanilla, chocolate orange, lemon—and Pudding is so pure and wholesome, you can let the children have as much of it as they want."

"Well," said Mrs. Crosby, "I shall order some Pudding right away."

"I know you'll be pleased," said Mr. Morris. "And, by the way, don't forget—a 15c box of Pudding will serve five people or a 10c box seven people."

A Righteous Man

"Her name was Jessie Grismer. She—ah—assumed the name of Conway. * * * God did not like the unholy union. There was daughter, Laura. A certain Harriett Quest, the prodigate, wastrel son of that good man, the Rev. August Quest, married this girl, Laura Conway. * * * God, mindful of His wrath, still punished the sin of my sinful sister, even until the second generation. * * * St. Pauline Quest is their daughter. "Good heaven, Grismer! I can understand that you, knowing this, have not done something—"

"Oh, I thought that sort of mean. I thought such creeds went out of date—old-fashioned—"
"God," said Chiltern Grissmer faintly, "is old-fashioned, I believe—m-m—yes—very old-fashioned, Iceland. But His purposes are terrible, and his wrath is a living thing to those who have the fear of God within their hearts."
"Oh, Well, I'm sorry, but I really can't be afraid of God. If I were I'd doubt Him, Grissmer."

"M-m——" he touched a bell: a clerk appeared. Then he turned to Cleveland. "Would you be good enough to see our Mr. Bunce?"

Oh, yes, nearly every man knows exactly how to rule a woman—if she would only let him.

Marriage is the end of all a girl's doubts, problems and troubles; but it isn't until after the wedding that she discovers which end.

A man's anger, like a cigarette, burns itself out and goes up in smoke; a woman's simmers, and simmers, and simmers, and then boils over in tears.

"Not if you adopt this child."

The girl at his side answered gravely, politely, as if she were twice her age. Yet, gradually, John noted with relief she laughed more

Five minutes later he returned with a bunch of the same flowers.

SOURCE—A given name.
THE family name of Harvey belongs to a rather small classification which traces back to before their invasion of England for it was a name fairly common upon the rolls of the Norman armies and among the Norman nobility, though the Normans were Teutonic rather than Celtic.

The first Harvey in America was one William Harvey, who came here, settling in Dorchester, from England in 1633. He was a Quaker. He is enrolled, as the records put it, "among the names of the first settlers of the colony," which later he and others named Colchester. To this settlement he brought a number of English Puritan families to this Taunton, after a long voyage to journey.

It is interesting to learn that he had to journey many miles from Colchester to Boston, because he was a member of the Massachusetts Colony, he had to be married in justice in the capital of the colony. He was a very good man; he was a mighty man in the court; and his community and did a large amount of good to the colony. The Harveys in America.

"You do not have to call me that now, Bab," he reminded her.

She ignored the interruption. "Perhaps you do not understand just how I feel about you," she said.

He stopped, flushing, her eyes downcast. He pressed her hand reassuringly.

Why They Are So Good

Several of the other anglers, after the afternoon, at the bazaar, were discussing why Gorton's fish were so good. "It is so very rarely that you get the individual touch in a trout," said one. "Gorton's Ready To Fry Fish Cake is a delightful exception."

"That's because," said I. "Gorton has carefully selected his materials. I know, as a scientist, must know."

"That is because you never heard of Spredd," I told her. "Right away, I went into the kitchen and buttered a slice with Spredd. I gave it to Mrs. Sprad."

"Spredd's delicious," was her verdict. "Just like butter. I shall use it for my table milk."

all must agree. If there is a nice jug of milk on the table the children should know where it comes from.

Therefore, Jane and I one day took a walk to the farm. We painted to them the picture of the New England farm, in earliest spring. The children began to grow, and we showed them pictures. They were so interested. There's a school in Uxbridge, Mass. where which the children should be told.

THINGS IN GENERAL

How Public Money Goes, Etc.

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

Did you read the news about the Leviathan, and the Administration's schemes for "protecting the public" in the matter of shipping?

Your Government is considering the following proposition: To sell the magnificent steamship Leviathan, worth from six to ten millions, for THREE million dollars. Please read carefully and laugh. The buyer would put up $100,000 cash. The Government would sell him the Leviathan on CREDIT and in addition LEND HIM SIX MILLION DOLLARS AT FIVE PER CENT. INTEREST, to rebuild the ship and give the buyer, WITHOUT CHARGE, the use of a Government pier during the rebuilding. And THAT isn't all.

After spending the Government's six million dollars on the Government's ship, bought on credit, the buyer would run the ship and "pay the Government" the three million dollar purchase price and the six million dollar loan by giving the Government twenty-five per cent. of the NET profits that the vessel might earn. In other words, the people of this country would hand over their ship, plus six million dollars of their money, and then get "twenty-five per cent. of the net earnings," the buyer of the ship getting seventy-five per cent. If there weren't any earnings, of course the Government wouldn't get anything.

And we talk about keeping that kind of management at the head of the nation. It won't be done.

The Title Guarantee & Trust Company, which makes money every time anybody buys a piece of land, asks in a well written advertisement, "Does it worry you that you must remember when coupons are due and go to the safe deposit vault and cut the coupons? Is it a nuisance to make out coupon envelopes and certificates and get the coupons cashed?" To this question at least ninety-nine million Americans can sincerely answer "NO." But those ninety-nine million Americans are NOT the Americans that really run the Republican-Democratic Government of the United States.

Peace League value is illustrated at a solemn meeting of the "International Chamber of Commerce" in Paris. Business men met, discussed everything, and adjourned WITHOUT doing or saying anything about labor. A futile resolution on labor was drawn up and then voted down. Too dangerous, apparently, for handling. And so the business men adjourned. It is as though a lot of mine owners met and adjourned without saying anything about the mines. Labor is the mine of the employer. An intelligent miner is interested in his mine.

A lark, nightingale or canary bird, because of its popularity, might sing anything it chose—no one would mind. When the famous Mr. Caruso says that he thinks he will go back to his home, in Florence, and stop paying income tax here, unless people stop bothering him, everybody says, "PLEASE don't go." No matter what HE says, we want him.

But Caruso is not going away and stop paying income tax, expresses the thought of many gentlemen in this country violently opposed to any tax on their incomes. They have an idea that they are making a PRESENT to the Government, for getting that, before they can pay income tax, the people must give them THE INCOME.

Somebody said that liquid hydrogen could be used to run automobiles, two hundred and fifty miles on a gallon. Professor Gady, teaching chemistry at Kansas University, says, "All nonsense. If you could produce liquid hydrogen cheaply, a gallon would only run an automobile about two miles." The professor is probably right. But PERHAPS he is wrong. A man announced some time ago that he could run a train of cars pulled by a steam engine at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. The professors of his day said it was impossible, and that, if it WERE possible, the high rate of speed would kill the travellers and those that stood near the track. Nevertheless, steam cars do travel twenty-five miles, and more, per hour.

Somebody is going to discover a substitute for gasoline, which is a feeble explosive compared with some others. If you could tie up the force contained in half a pound of TNT, you could run your car a long distance, and it wouldn't cost much.

If you could use the power that ties together the molecules and atoms in your watch, you could run your automobile with that amount of power around the earth five hundred times and have plenty of power left.

Just at present the wisdom of Providence requires that we should work hard for everything that we get. To make results too easy would make the present human race too lazy.

But eventually power to run automobiles, carry freight, drive flying machines, dig canals and irrigate deserts will be absolutely free, like water and air, be sure of that.

The earth upon which we live is a gigantic driving wheel. The moon sheaves, lifting the tides, is a huge gong, engine waiting to be hitched up, and the sun offers us constantly power unlimited. As soon as we are far enough advanced to be free, safely, from the necessity of working for a little power, we shall have all we want, and it won't cost anything.

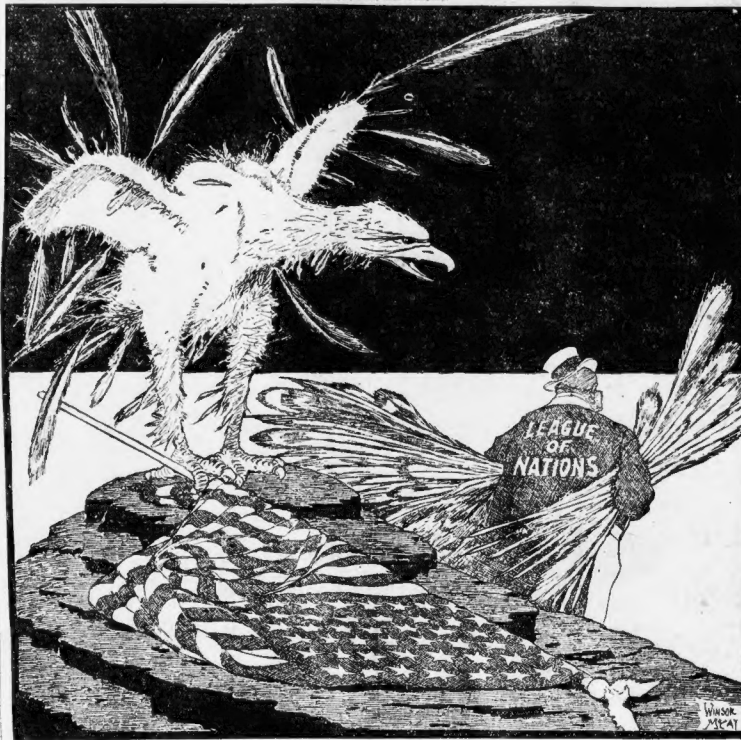

The talkers at San Francisco, like those at Chicago, will speak with "sound amplifiers," magnifying the power of the voices and carrying their words clearly to every corner of the hall. Sound amplifiers, combined with wireless telephoning, may make it possible for men to talk to all human beings on the earth at the same time. Thus Volney, if here, could arrange his meeting of all the nations without having his statesmen leave home.

The difficulty at present would be to find somebody able to say something that would be worth listening to by all the people of the world.

At San Francisco, for instance, at the convention of one of the two big parties of a nation of a hundred and five millions—latest figures—there will not be one word said that would be worth repeating after next week.

More Truth Than Poetry

Wisdom From Mr. Richman II.

By S. E. KISER

WHY is it that the men who work forget so constantly to try to cling to reason? It seems as if they keep affairs upset. By wanting favors in any out of season. I'm told that toil is healthful, that to labor precludes the need of other exercise. Why is it, then, if I may ask you, neighbor, that work so seldom cheers or satisfies?

It seems so strange that men who work should ever be blind to the need they serve so well; if all of us were highly bred and clever. There would be nothing made to buy or sell.

I wonder if that thought has ever fluttered from any other human being's mind? Should ever think they're not rewarded truly. Words of so much importance to mankind.

BUT what I meant to say is that I truly am at a loss to see why men who toil should ever think they're not rewarded truly. Or with they might get upward from the soil.

Why can't they be serene and satisfied. Instead of being restless and complaining? The things that they produce must be supplied.

Or how could any pleasure be remaining?

WHY IT GOES MERRILY ON Every little while we hear that they've nabbed a protuber.

But we know the consequences will be small; if he's little he is told that he's been a bit too bold, if he's big they ask his pardon, and that's all.

NOT NECESSARILY THE LAST WORD Lloyd George says Irish independence is out of the question. Another George said the same thing about American independence.

Letters to the Editor

Would Lose Homes

Editor Boston American:

In the section in which I reside, Forest Hills, the Boston Elevated is about to erect a car barn in what is known as the Toll district. It seems the throwing out of forty-seven families and of two hundred and fifty individuals.

Now that there is no building going on, it seems an outrage that the people of that district should have to move out as they have no place to go. Many of the residents are very angry as it seems to them that the Boston Elevated could well afford to wait two or three years until building starts up again. There is really no necessity now, as they have gotten along all these years without it.

They could easily get along until these people find other homes. I sincerely trust that your paper will take the matter up, and also the representative from that district.

WILLIAM J. BRESLIN, Forest Hills.

Freedom Stolen

Editor Boston American:

Lloyd George says America don't want Ireland's independence. In other words, Ireland's Freedom!

Some people here are wondering if Lloyd George is not right, after all; the American people are allowing so much of their own freedom to be stolen from them, under their very eyes, any reasonable person must doubt of their desire for freedom, either in America or in Ireland. They probably will return a Republican or Democrat again, to prove their love for freedom.

I THANK YOU.

PROTECTION FOR NEW ENGLAND COAST

By Brig.-Gen. J. W. Ruckman
Commanding the North Atlantic Coast
Artillery District.

OWING to the great advance in weapons, especially in artillery, modern ships' guns fire at enormous ranges compared to those formerly used and old systems of fortifications no longer suffice. Substantial modifications have become necessary in order to meet the requirements of efficacious coast defense.

I have made long and careful study of our coast defenses, and have, for several years, given special attention to the New England coast. The great ranges now possible with heavy guns, together with the general development with regard to guns mounted on turrets and railway trucks, enable the artillery to make huge strides in systems of coast fortifications, which were until now impossible.

Value of New England

No argument need be presented to prove the value of New England and its need of attention. It embraces the most important section in the United States, contains the strategic naval center in the Narragansett. The latter is necessary to the navy, both on tactical and strategic grounds, and must be secured therefore. New England was beyond statement of value in its efforts in the great war, and must be retained for future assistance in a future war. Plans to secure protection to this coast will protect the eastern flank of New York, which is generally considered to be the objective of an enemy attacking this country. These three conditions must be satisfied in any efficacious plan.

I hold to the idea of binding the whole coast together so as to present the solution in one complete scheme, by which every part will be taken into account.

It is proposed to place all the dominating points and controlling advanced points and controlling the coast waters, but also, for the requirements of our own forces. Fired guns of great caliber are based on Montserrat, Point, Block Island, No Man's Land, Cape Cod and Cape Ann. Portsmouth and Portland, the road and tractor artillery would fill in the shore between these points, thus making the shore a continuous line of defense.

Guns Concentrated

The well chosen guns could be concentrated on important or endangered points, if required. The plan contemplates widening and deepening the Cape Cod Canal to accommodate the battle fleet and likewise Hatteras, East River, and the Chesapeake Bay. This would place the fleet to the south of the coast, thus making the shore a continuous line of defense.

In the present state of peace in the world we need a secure base for the fleet and there should be no delay in this respect. The main object of the fortifications will be to secure the base for the fleet, and incidentally the territory of New England and the flank of New York.

An effective defense should be based on the coast. As to economy, the proposed system, it is believed, will be as cheap as any plan that will be logical, cheap and efficacious.

Stars and Stripes

Already the advantages of a pivot platform are apparent. When Progressives call, Candidate Harding swings it their way. Old Quaker callers need no candidate—they know whose platform it really is.

She kept a secret in her breast from Saturday till Monday. Because she didn't meet a soul to talk to, all day Sunday.

President Ebert of Germany isn't going to try to get in for another term. At least one German seems to know when to quit.

The Republican platform's failure to mention Ireland is explained as "accidental." The Democrats' failure to mention Ireland is explained as "accidental" as the defeat of Johnson.

PLAIN TO ALL SHE WAS A FLASHY BOOR

By Winifred Black

SHE was all in white—soft white, that clings and is very becoming and suggestive. White hat, white shoes, white silk stockings, white veil, white gloves and a smart, simple, darling little white frock.

She was pretty, too, or I think she was—in spite of her absurd makeup. She had a good deal of white liquid on her face, and it took out the expression and made her look like a beautiful marble statue stepped down from her pedestal and dressed in modern clothes.

Her hair was beautifully done—not just twisted up carelessly, but done smartly and in the latest mode. However, she was not a lady, and even the elevator boy knew it the minute he looked at her.

To begin with, an older woman, quite palpably older, with white hair, was standing at the elevator entrance, but when the door opened the woman in white stopped in ahead of the older woman and pushed her way into the elevator without so much as "beg your pardon" or a "by your leave."

All in an Instant

Once in the elevator, she began to talk about her own personal affairs. Oh, very personal affairs, indeed, and she spoke to the woman who was with her in such loud voices that everyone in the elevator could hear every word she said.

And while she was talking, she looked not at the woman in whom she was supposed to be speaking, but at everyone else in the elevator, as if she wanted to see whether they were looking at her or not, and what they thought of her, and her clothes, and her affairs, and of the way she rolled her eyes and how she moved her lips to show the dimple—a very little dimple, indeed, but still a dimple.

Poor thing. I suppose she would be amazed if she knew that in just her little trip from the tenth floor down to the ground she had shown many separate and distinct traits and mannerisms which proved that she had never had the advantage of proper breeding or real education.

Later on at dinner I saw a man, well dressed, well groomed, almost too well groomed, seemed to me. I don't like to catch the sparkle of a man's nails too distinctly, do you? And he was evidently very much pleased with himself and thought every one else in the dining room was pleased with him, too.

But he was not a gentleman and he shocked me, was not in a lot of ways. I suspect the waiter knew the fatal truth before he had quite pulled out the man's chair far enough to let him sit down in comfort.

Would It Have Helped?

He spoke lightly of a woman and told her name and where she lived and how crazy she was about him, and he showed a letter, a love letter, signed and all. And when a pretty girl came in with another man he moved his seat so that he could make eyes at her. The other man had seen his kind before and he moved, too. So the man who was not a gentleman didn't get a chance to make eyes very long, after all.

Every time the man who was not a gentleman had something important to say he leaned across the table and took the man who set opposite him by the coat and held on to the sleeve until he had finished what he was saying.

I saw him afterward in the lobby—he seemed to know a good many people—and every time he saw some one he knew he put his hand on him in some way or other.

He simply wouldn't let an opportunity to paw people pass him by. Poor fellow! He had rather a kind face, too, and clever in its way. I felt like sending some one to take him off to a corner somewhere and tell him a few plain, kindly words about his mannerisms.

He was making, which was quite contrary to the one he thought he was making.

I wonder if it would have done any good. Copyright, 1920, Winifred Black. All Rights Reserved.
